August 8-11, 2012

The NCTA Convention & Trade Show is headed to sunny California! Mark your calendar and plan to head to Sacramento, Calif., for the 2012 NCTA Convention. We’re busy working on educational sessions, farm tours, side trips, national contests and many more exciting events. NCTA is dedicated to making the 2012 Convention & Trade Show better than ever!

Nearly 80% of 2011 Convention attendees said they will definitely attend a future NCTA Convention.
Join Us in Making the Industry Stronger

The National Christmas Tree Association (NCTA) exists to protect and promote the Real Christmas Tree industry, striving to be one voice for the industry. NCTA is governed by a board of Christmas Tree growers and retailers, representing an extensive cross section of the industry. NCTA Directors pledge to put the best interest of the Real Christmas Tree industry ahead of the individual needs of the national association, their personal businesses and the special interests of the state or regional association that elected them to office.

Vision: A Real Christmas Tree should be the centerpiece of every family’s Christmas celebration.

Mission: As a professional organization, NCTA promotes and protects the use of Real Christmas Trees and supports the industry that provides them.

Guiding Principles: The National Christmas Tree Association will:

- Conduct its affairs with honesty and integrity
- Advocate unity among all segments of the industry
- Deal only with issues that cannot be handled on a state or individual basis
- Communicate fully and accurately with members, state associations and related industries on a continuous and timely basis

Goals:

- Promotion: To promote the Real Christmas Tree tradition to the public.
- Government Affairs: To monitor and evaluate legislative and regulatory issues and to respond as appropriate in a manner that benefits the industry.
- Member Services: To provide programs and services that attract and retain members.
- Operational Effectiveness: To develop leadership teams that support the association’s mission and goals in an accountable and cost-effective manner.
Protecting & Promoting Our Industry:

The need for a nationwide Christmas Tree community – with a desire to have its voice heard – has never been stronger.

Protection issues are becoming increasingly important as attacks come from various directions. NCTA’s 2012 Promotion & Protection plan includes the following efforts:

- Legislative & Regulatory Affairs – Work with policymakers on an array of issues including property rights, crop protection chemical registrations, tax issues, import/export regulations and labor regulations.

- Holiday Safety – Protect the right to display Real Christmas Trees by working with code writers and fire officials.

- Media Relations – Interact with mainstream and social media writers, editors and influencers to create positive stories about Real Trees, such as the White House Christmas Tree presentation and Trees for Troops and squelch the spread of misinformation.

- Consumer Research – Monitor industry trends and supply information to the media.

- Find-A-Tree – Maintain and promote the online directory of farms and lots where millions of customers come each year to find a place to buy their Real Christmas Tree.

- Electronic Communications – Update and improve electronic consumer information systems to assure that consumers can get the information they desire quickly and efficiently.

- Rapid Response – Keep reserve funds available for rapid responses to unexpected attacks on the industry.

- Development – Raise the necessary funds. (You can help keep this to a minimum by investing now.)
The Tree Industry Partnership (TIP) was started in 1995 and 100% of the funds collected through the program go to protecting and promoting the industry. Participating state/regional associations pay $20 per member. In addition to receiving the industry benefits achieved through NCTA’s protection and promotion work, TIP state members receive the following benefits:

- A free basic listing on the NCTA website or an enhanced listing for $14 per year
- A link to their own website for $25 per year
- A discount on the registration rate for NCTA Conventions
- A discount on a subscription to the American Christmas Tree Journal

Currently there are 23 state & regional associations that participate in TIP

These programs are dependent upon voluntary funding. The 2012 budget for all of these programs is $147,400.

- NCTA dues will contribute $36,400, which includes covering the lobbying portion of our programs.
- Legislative donations typically total about $5,000.
- The Tree Industry Partnership is budgeted to contribute $47,000 from 2,350 members of participating state and regional associations.
- Real Tree Contributions are budgeted at $55,000.
As the voice of the industry, working to protect and promote our businesses, we know Real Tree programs must be impactful to reach consumers. NCTA strives to design and implement effective programs and works continuously to improve programs so they successfully reach consumers and the media.

NCTA media interactions head off dozens, if not hundreds of negative news stories each year. We redirect reporters’ misguided questions into either positive stories, or at least avert negative stories on allergies, drought, pests, pesticides and flaming trees. Once a negative story runs, other media outlets tend to pick it up and extend the reach; therefore, it is critical we correct the story from the beginning.

- The White House Christmas Tree presentation results in more than 70 million consumer media impressions each year, an estimated value of about $10 million.

- Fire code regulations that would ban Real Trees have been prevented and modified because of NCTA’s involvement with the code writers.

- Christmas Tree production is recognized as agriculture and growers are treated the same as any other farmer on overtime wage provisions because NCTA participated in legal action against the Department of Labor.

- Consumer perceptions are changing. In 2002, just 18% of consumers said a Real Tree was better for the environment than a fake tree and 55% said a fake tree was better. For the last three years, a consistent 30% of consumers have said a Real Tree is better for the environment. There are still about 45% of consumers who say a fake tree is better for the environment and 25% that don’t know.

In 2012 NCTA will continue to protect and promote our industry through:

- Continuing core promotion programs (media relations, interviews, etc.)
- Developing and distributing tools to help you SELL more trees
- Presenting the White House Christmas Tree and maximizing media attention
- Focusing promotions on the environmental benefits of Real Trees
- Combating the fake tree industry’s fake claims
- Continuing to fight misinformation (fires, mold, pesticides, etc.)
- Ongoing work on legislative issues

The Christmas SPIRIT Foundation (CSF) is the charitable branch of the National Christmas Tree Association dedicated to keeping the spirit of Christmas alive and growing memories for the next generation of children and families. CSF was founded in 2005 as a 501(c)(3) charity. Contributions help needy children and families in the United States during the holiday season and promote environmental stewardship throughout the year.

TREES FOR TROOPS™ is a program of CSF. In 2011, CSF was proud to deliver the 100,000th Christmas Tree to a military family! Annually the program provides more than 15,000 donated Christmas Trees to military families around the world.

While the foundation is not allowed to promote any product, including Real Christmas Trees, it is allowed to make sure that the Real Tree industry and its other supporters “get caught” doing good. Consumer polling by Harris Interactive shows that 16 million families each year recall seeing, hearing or reading about the program. On average, more than a million a year say they were influenced to buy a Real Christmas Tree because of the program!
Membership Pays

NCTA members receive a variety of benefits. Membership categories allow you to purchase the benefit package that works for you. If you are not currently a Premier member, consider giving yourself an upgrade to receive additional benefits.
